DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN ECONOMICS	16
DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION	19
DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN EDUCATION POLICY AND MANAGEMENT	22

WHY CHOOSE KIMEP?

- North American-style University in Central Asia;
- Fully-funded three-year PhD programs: the scholarship covers full tuition fees and living expenses;
- Research active faculty;
- A broad range of research areas;
- Outstanding career prospects within academia, international organizations, and the public and private sectors;
- Employability rate of KIMEP graduates above 90%;
- Specialized research, academic writing and welfare support, including a world-class Library, and many extra-curricular activities in sports, music, art, culture and more;
- A culturally diverse academic community;
- An inclusive, dynamic English-speaking environment.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND GRANTS

Students accepted into the KIMEP scholarship program will have free tuition for three years, the minimum time for PhD program. In addition, students will be given a monthly stipend during the Fall and Spring semesters. The stipend will depend on previous academic qualifications and experience.

The stipends last for two years, which represent the period of coursework. In the following years, Ph.D. candidates may teach, at adjunct rates, up to two classes per semester, depending on KIMEP need; or they may return to their home universities while they complete their dissertations.

All students should take a course in pedagogy the first semester that they are studying. This is based on the recommendation of the deans.

ADMISSION TO PHD PROGRAMS

Doctorate programs represent the post-graduate education level aimed at training the cadre for research, teaching and (or) professional activity with awarding the degrees of Philosophy Doctor (PhD) or Specialized Doctor.

Competitive admission to doctorate programs is open for persons having a Master's degree; other criteria also are taken into account – you can get acquainted with those criteria below.

Duration of studying at KIMEP doctorate programs is 3 years.
