Leadership and Governance Metrics

Focusing on how leadership judgment, decision ownership, and accountability translate into meaningful governance indicators beyond formal compliance.

Biography:

Yusuf Yusupov is a Management Consultant to the World Health Organization (WHO), Geneva, and a Board Member of Laprica Academy (Sweden), working at the intersection of governance, ethical leadership, and ESG.

An international advisor from Central Asia, he specializes in decision-making frameworks, accountability systems, and non-financial governance metrics that strengthen institutional integrity in high-consequence and regulated environments.

He has advised public sector institutions, United Nations agencies, international NGOs, and government authorities across Europe, North America, Asia-Pacific, and Sub-Saharan Africa, with experience spanning healthcare, public transport, international development, and social enterprise.

With formal academic training in ethics, economics, and strategy, Yusuf brings a practice-informed and analytically rigorous perspective to governance and ethical leadership in global and institutional contexts.
